

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

I have sent Sinclair an email objecting to their proposed action of preempting regular programming shortly before the presidential election to run this polemic. "Such a biased political action is reprehensible and must not be accomplished by use of the public airwaves."

Sinclair Broadcasting is not serving the public interest of providing unbiased reporting.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
